

NO BIG BILLS.

But a Lot of Little Pickpockets Selling Honor.

The editor of the Emporia Gazette, who spent several weeks, about the ins and outs of the last regular session of the legislature, has much to say just now about what he calls a "lot of little pickpockets selling their honor for anything from a cigar to $500."

Reference is made to an interview from Kelley the baking powder agent who was mixed up in Missouri's affairs and is now in Canada. This interview has not yet been printed apparently in Kansas and its source is not clear. It was stated in a dispatch Tuesday that Kelley was "not talking now."

White said in the Gazette of Tuesday and a previous issue:

"If the direct charge of bootlegging made by Kelley the Missouri corruptionist is not investigated by the Republicans this year, and proved false or true, the people will take the matter up next year at the polls. There is nothing so important in politics as cleanliness. It is not only next to godliness, but in politics, it is godliness itself. The Populists were turned out because they were filthy in the conduct of public affairs. The Republicans, if they let the charge of corruption go with a shrug are not worth the support of the people. The Populists charged up and tried to shield the bootleggers. It would not hurt the Republican party in Kansas a bit to have it proved that five leaders in each house were corrupt, if the Republicans proved it and punished the offenders; but you bet your bottom dollar it would break the back of the Republican party in Kansas, if the Populists or Democrats proved that Kelley's charges were true. This is the part of loyalty to the Republican party to say so and keep saying so."

"Kelley, the corrupt agent of the baking powder trusts, says that he once bought the Kansas legislature. His remark will cause a laugh to spread over the state. That kind of a snarl should call for the sternest investigation. Political bribery and corruption are no giggling matters. There is talk under the bushes of little deals and take off in the last legislature. There is reason to believe that money was used there and that certain leaders, men of both sides took money. There was too much slot machine talk, too much money business with the committees on revision of the calendar in both houses."

"If Governor Bailey or Attorney General Coleman cared to go to the bottom of the talk that is circulating in gossip among politicians in this state there is no doubt but that the state could be purged better than by any other move in local politics. If for instance the boss busters were sincere in their desire to clean up the politics in Kansas and get a new deal all around they would look at the bills introduced for blackmailing purposes in the last legislature and smothered. That will remove some of the shining lights of bootlegging and of bootlegging from Kansas politics, and would form a faction founded on real honesty and not on windy pretensions of holier-than-thouism."

"What this state needs so bad it is just naturally hurting for it is for some man to come along and clean up the politics in Kansas. Hell is under cover here. It is in both camps—the Leland camp and the Burton camp. The Leland camp is a general who would start an inquiry into bootlegging and shield neither Leland nor Burton, nor Dumont Smith nor Fringing, if the bait should fall on either, would make himself so everlastingly popular with the people that all the politicians with dirty fingers could not harm a hair of his head. The trouble with the boss buster movement is that it is a cowardly, the trouble with the so-called machine movement is that it is a hunting trouble. The pot can't call the kettle black."

"There were no thousand dollar bills used in Kansas during the last legislature. But there were a lot of little pickpockets who would sell their honor for a good cigar to five hundred dollars—and it was always dear at half the price—who practiced systematic bootlegging and drank little hand-bag games to the disgrace of the state and the annoyance of honest men with honest business before the legislature. These human gnats should be wiped off the earth. Kansas needs a man with a jaw—not the jawbone of an ass, not a jawsmith full of wind and wonders, but a man with a firm jaw who can set it by time and go to the petty barons of both parties and of both factions of both parties who pester the real workers in every legislature. It won't hurt the Republican party to unearth them. That kind of talk is foolish. Are the postal scandals hurting Roosevelt?"

"But say, good people, do you remember what the scandals of the Populist party were? The Populist party was the party that tried to cover the rottenness up? It will pay Governor Bailey and Attorney General Coleman to think on these things."

THERE IS NO INCOME.

Half Million Dollars Worth of Unproductive Real Estate.

Trenton, N. J., July 15.—Chancellor Magee today filed an opinion which will permit the immediate transfer to the Metropolitan museum of art of New York of about $500,000 worth of real estate in New York city and Paterson, N. J., that was left in trust by Jacob Rogers, the Paterson millionaire. The trust was created for the payment of annuities of $500 each to Rogers' two grandsons. The land is unimproved and the income is not sufficient to pay the taxes. Under the decision the land will go to the museum which will guarantee the payment of the annuities. By the terms of the will the land was to be sold after the death of the two grandsons. This valuable property is in addition to a bequest of $500,000 Mr. Rogers willed to the museum direct.

He built the first public crematory in the United States in Pittsburg twenty years ago.

MISS CRANE WEDS.

Well Known Topeka Actress Married in Denver.

The actress whom Topekans know as Lottie Bowes and the theatrical world as Charlotte Crane, was married in Denver last Friday noon to Donald Winchester Brown of White Plains, New York. In Denver she was known as Miss Charlotte Post, Post being her step-father's name.

MRS. DONALD WINCHESTER BROWN.

She had been living in Denver for two years as a governess in the family of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Daly and it was at their home that the wedding took place. Mr. Brown is in the real estate business at White Plains where he owns a large country place, Maplehurst, where they will spend the summer.

Lottie Bowes was a Topeka girl whose family still lives here. She was very pretty and when she was in her early teens she became stage-struck and ran away with a "Black Crook" company which showed in Topeka. Her father went after her and brought her home but later she persuaded her family to let her make a trial for success on the stage and William Wadsworth, a Topeka actor, secured her an engagement in the same company with which he was appearing. The play was Augustus Thomas' "Alabama" and Miss Bowes, who took the stage name of Charlotte Crane, was cast for the ingenue part of "Carey Preston." This was in the fall of 1893. She made a good impression in the role and the next year joined the Hoyt's "A Texas Steer" company and as "Bossy," she made her greatest success. Tim Murphy was the star of the company. Afterwards Miss Crane was with Olga Netherland and Julia Marlowe.

It has been persistently rumored and is generally believed that this is not Mrs. Brown's first matrimonial venture. Several years ago a story got into the telegraph news with a Charleston, S. C., date line which told how Ensign Peterson of the United States navy, who had been attending a ball given for the naval officers with Miss Charlotte Crane, the actress, had been ordered back to his ship because the other women at the ball were insulted by the presence of an actress. It was Ensign Peterson whom Miss Crane was afterwards reported to have married. It was a midnight marriage and took place in the city of Topeka. Mrs. Crane was reported to have gotten her divorce from Ensign Peterson in St. Joseph, Mich., last summer. She was visiting a Chicago family at the time.

SNAPSHOTS AT HOME NEWS.

Somehow, when business has a lull about this time of year, my mind turns to the vacation back among the scene once dear I stray about the harvest fields where long ago I watched the cereal ocean in its golden ripples flow.

Willie now and then, upon some blade a bird reared here, and then went out like thoughts recalled no more.

As faint as falling echoes of a signal far at sea, The clink of scythe and whetlock come in rhythmic harmony: Among the brooding hills near by, in evening shadows dim, One would not start to catch a glimpse of winging scapery.

For sweet the ways with tinkling bells where browsing cattle roam, And all of nature hints of heaven in harvest time at home.

How pleasant then the journey home along the country road, Where larkspur blooms beside the fence like knots of lovers glowing— Now listening to the whippoorwill beyond a darkling field.

Or tarrying where the berries tempt— And long before we reached the gate to hear the watch dogs bark, And see the distant windows gleam like blossoms of the dark.

It seems so long since those old years—so long indeed that I Now wonder that a time could be without a sob or sigh.

And, yet, enough do I recall to vow that in the end— When there's no more and ever more in death's twilight blend— It would suffice to know that life beyond the gathering gloam.

Would really prove as care free as—the harvest time at home.

GERMS AND MICROBES

FOUND IN COUNTLESS MILLIONS IN THE DUST AND DIRT OF THE STREETS; SWARMING IN THE POLLUTED AIR OF SHOPS AND FACTORIES, AND INVADING THE HOMES OF THE RICH AND POOR.

Germs and microbes assail us on every hand and surround us on every side; there is no possibility of escape from these little enemies to health and life, for they are invisible to the natural eye, and give no signs of their presence. We carry them about in our clothing and unconsciously inhale them into our lungs, and take them into our system with our food and drink. These smallest of all living things get into the circulation, causing fermentation and deterioration of the blood and wreck and ruin to the whole system. They feed upon the elements of the blood, rob it of its health-giving, nutritious qualities, destroy the red corpuscles and reduce it to a thin watery state, when it can no longer supply vigor and strength to the body which succumbs often to the simplest disease.

When germs and microbes find a lodgment in the blood it means an end to good health. The decline may be gradual but is sure. One after another the different organs of the body are affected, the Liver becomes torpid, the Kidneys fail to act, the Stomach is thrown out of order, the digestion becomes weak, the constitution runs down, an indifferent lifeless condition ensues, and disease fastens itself upon the helpless victim because of the germs and microbes at work in the blood.

Malaria, Anemia, Chronic Ulcers, Dangerous Fevers, Carbuncles and Boils and many wasting debilitating diseases are due to a polluted germ-infected blood. No one can feel well or is well whose system is at the mercy of these insidious and unseen atoms of destruction and foes of human health and happiness. They must be driven out and the weak sluggish blood invigorated and made rich and pure again before the debilitated system can rally and good health is again established. S. S. S. supplies all the needed properties to the watery blood and removes all obstructions to a full and free circulation, resulting in renewed strength and vitality, better appetite and digestion and the certain up-building of the health. S. S. S. by keeping the blood in its natural purity and strength prevents the accumulation of germs and microbes or other impurities in the system and thus lessens the danger of infection from these blood contaminating health destroying pests.

As long as there is a perfect circulation of pure blood throughout the body we enjoy freedom from disease and the blessings of good health. S. S. S. contains no mineral ingredients whatever, but is guaranteed strictly vegetable and harmless.

OUR MEDICAL DEPARTMENT: Write us if you have any chronic ailment, old sore or ulcer, boils, skin trouble, or are suffering with Malaria and in that condition where you are not exactly sick nor ever entirely well, and our physicians will give your letter prompt attention and through their advice and help you may be saved many years of pain and suffering. Address all letters to THE SWIFT SPECIFIC COMPANY, ATLANTA, GA.

POISONED BY THE GERMS OF MALARIA. I began using your S. S. S. probably 10 years ago for Malaria and blood troubles, and it proved so good at that time that I have continued ever since using it as a family remedy. Recently one of my children was troubled with large, painful boils on the back of his neck; after suffering with these for several months, we tried S. S. S., and am glad to state that a bottle and a half cured him entirely.

It is a pleasure for me to recommend S. S. S. for the benefit of others who are needing a first rate blood purifier, tonic and sure cure for Malaria.
